Free Workshop:

Modeling & simulation applications in a clinical setting

The focus of this free workshop will be to discuss recent advancements with data analyses tools and physiologically-based pharmacokinetic (PBPK) modeling theory and approaches. Special emphasis will be given to case studies highlighting various applications in a clinical setting, including pediatric exposure predictions from adult PBPK models and drug-drug interaction (DDI) predictions.

Light refreshments will be provided.

Seating is limited, so reserve your spot today!
